Pigeon feeding is not allowed in Singapore, and feeders can be fined up to $10000. Leftover food from feeding pigeons can attract pests like rats, which are also likely disease carriers.

Not only do their droppings dirty the environment, pigeons also pose a health risk. Humans could contract diseases from droppings of diseased birds or carcasses through physical touch. This could cause diseases to spread.

(17)

In a recent attempt to keep residents safe from such health risks, the Town Council went the extra mile to stop the unknown pigeon feeders at Changi Village Hawker Centre. These errant culprits had been feeding pigeons in the wee hours of the morning despite repeated warnings. By the time stalls opened, the hawker centre would be dirty again with leftover food and pigeon droppings.

About Gems Island	Activities	Shopping	Food and Drink	Getting Around
------------------------------	-------------------	-----------------	---------------------------	---------------------------

If you are looking for a holiday or weekend retreat, take a short ferry ride, and you will find yourself in a tropical paradise! The delicate balance of nature on the island is conscientiously maintained, allowing it to remain a haven for wildlife and the home of popular attractions. A well-known and convenient travel location, Gems Island also boasts the country's only beach resort.

The Islander bus is a unique mode of transport. It does not just take you to most of the places of interest on the island. There will be a local guide on board providing an interesting and educational running commentary on them! You will also receive a booklet of coupons that entitles you to special deals and free gifts at those places!

The Islander bus only travels in one direction. It arrives at each bus stop to pick up and drop off passengers every 30 minutes or so. The ride between stops is about five minutes. You can purchase the bus ticket from the guide or get it at a discount online. Be rewarded for planning ahead! Reserve your ticket at least a month in advance to enjoy a further discount!

Main Attractions:

Ruby Village
Visit the heart of the island to indulge in some shopping and a leisurely afternoon tea. The quaint shops and cafes are a delight to explore!

Zipaline Adventures
Seize the opportunity to take zip line rides amidst some of the tallest trees on the island. Reservations are required for groups of four or more. Zipaline is most easily accessed from Emerald Bay via a pedestrian path. Alternatively, a free shuttle bus service between Zipaline and Bus Stop 4 can be arranged at least one day in advance.

Diamonds Restaurant
Plan to spend a few hours here and savour a sumptuous three-course meal prepared by an award-winning chef! Reservations are required.

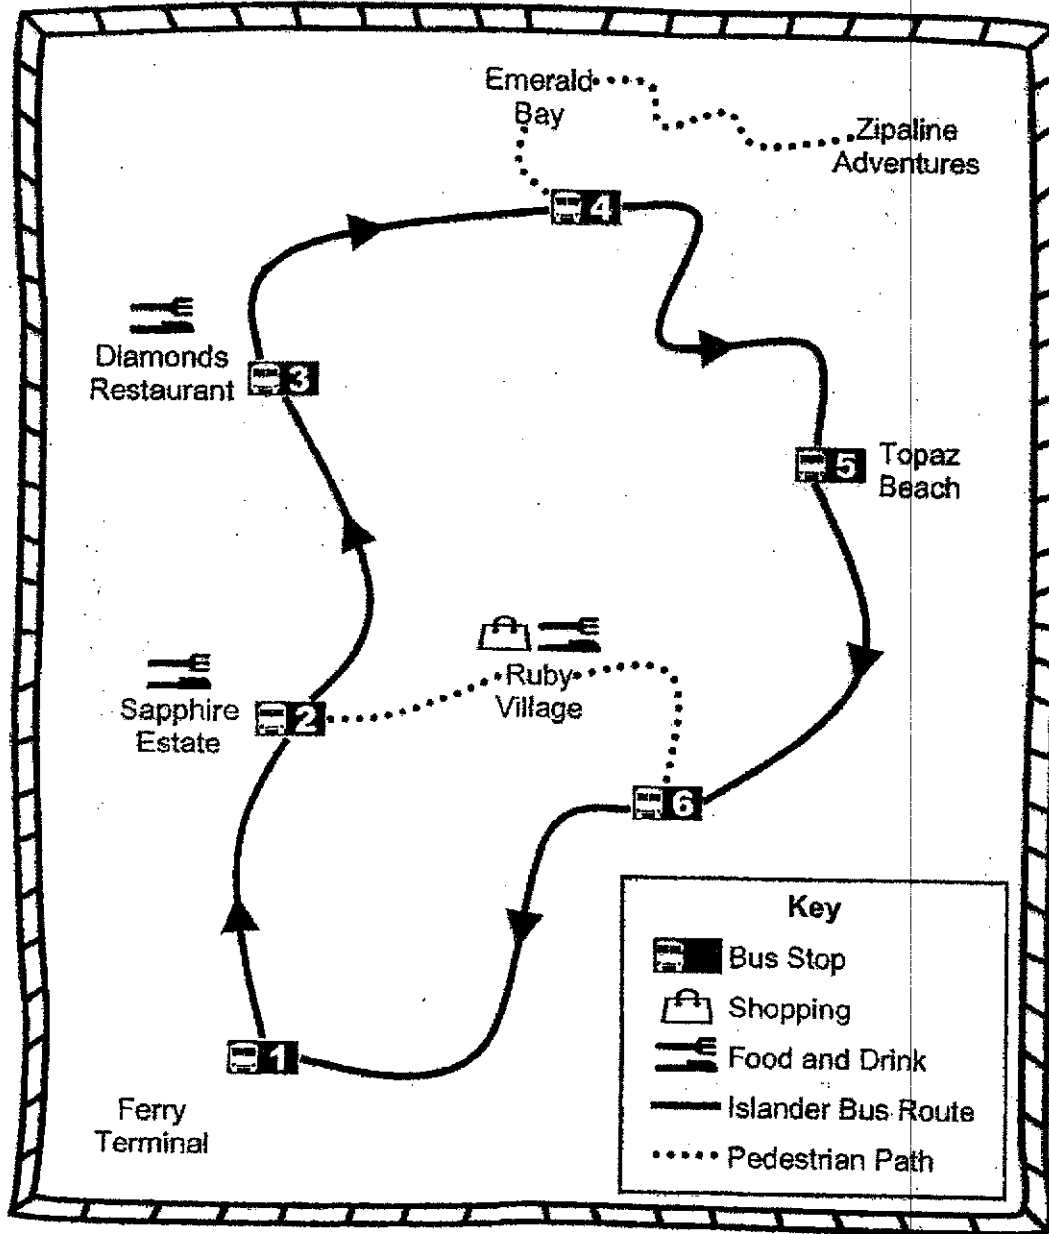

Sapphire Estate
Stop here for a quick snack! Kiosks offering mouth-watering local delights are located right behind the bus stop.

Emerald Bay
Head north and enjoy breathtaking views of the sea! The cliff walk can be done in an hour or two and takes you past fascinating rock formations.

Topaz Beach
Relax on the beach and take a dip in the sea!

Buy the Islander bus ticket now!

It is difficult to determine exactly when face masks began being used as a protective measure. One of the early recorded face mask-like objects in history dates back to the 6th century BC.

(39) (40)

In China during the Yuan dinesty, a scarf woven with silk and gold threads is thought to be one of the first face masks. According to the 13th-century travelogue, The Travels of Marco Polo, these scarves covered the mouths and noses of servants, and were beleaved to stop the servant's breath against affecting the smell and taste of food served to the emperor.

(41) (42) (43)

One of the most promenent early uses of face mask-like objects was during the Black Death, the deadliest pendemic recorded in human history, in the 14th century. The Black Death spread like wildfire in Europe, peak from 1347 to 1351.

(44) (45)

In the 16th century, a French doctor invented a beak-like mask, which was worn by doctors who travelled to towns to treat viktims of the plague. To ensure visibility, the bird-like beak masks features glass in the eye sockets. Perfume, scented spices or medicenes would be placed in the beak section of the mask in an attempt to filter out the disease. In addition to the mask, these doctors wore a drama "beak doctor" costume. They would also carry a cane so they could examining and direct patients without the need to make direct contact with them. The mask and the costume eventually evolved into a terrifying symbol of death.

The house was quiet except for the sound of Grandmother chopping sweet potatoes. Before Grandmother retired, she used to work at the residences of royalties. Hanging on the walls were awards from various culinary competitions. Now, the family gets to enjoy dishes from all over the world. Everyone calls her a versatile chef. She often tells her grandchildren to pick up her skills. 5

The atmosphere within the house livened up when Min's parents came through the main door. "Mum and Dad are home!" announced Min. "Min, here is a stack of recyclable papers that you requested for," said Father as he handed them to Min. The papers were printed single-sided. Min thanked her father for them. Just then, Min's brother, Jim, came out of his room. With his messy hair and crumpled clothes, he greeted his parents. 10

"Kids, a very important American client will be coming to our house for dinner tomorrow. We have to sign a deal with his company. I had wanted to take him out to a restaurant for a meal. But due to the Covid-19 heightened alert situation, I am unable to do so now. What should we prepare for him?" asked Father.

"I think Grandmother's shark fin soup is savoury. That would definitely impress him and you will cut the deal! I can't wait to meet him!" replied Jim with gusto and enthusiasm as the family rarely had guests over. 15

"Grandma, please do not cook. Don't you know how cruel the process of finning sharks is? Once the poachers get their hands on a shark, they ruthlessly sever its fin off before throwing the finless shark back into the ocean without a thought. Just imagine that, Jim! The poor shark helplessly writhing in pain, alone, on the seabed just for a predator to swim by and eat an easy meal! All that just for us humans to enjoy a nice bowl of shark fin soup. What will the client think of us and our culture?" Min rattled on. 20

Jim smirked, "Huh, I never thought that my little sis would be all grown up and mature into a full-fledged environmental crusader. Since when did you care about the environment?" 25

Grandmother walked slowly to the kitchen to check on the food that was boiling in the pot. Father followed Grandmother into the kitchen and asked, "Mum, what are you cooking for dinner?"

"Something simple and nutritious: sweet potato porridge with a few side dishes," Grandmother replied as she passed Father a tablespoon of porridge. As soon as he swallowed the piping hot porridge, he realised that it is such a humble dish but it warmed his stomach. "Mum, this is it! This is what I think we should prepare for the client! It is a dish that can be easily prepared, while being able to showcase the different ingredients used in our local dishes." 30

The next day, at the dining table, the family and their guest tucked into bowls of sweet potato porridge, savoury omelette, green and preserved vegetables, braised duck and a fish that was steamed to perfection. Mr Robertson, Mr Lee's client, was so impressed by how scrumptious and delicious the meal was. He requested for refills thrice. Most importantly, as he glanced around and noticed how the family interacted at the table, he felt the warmth and sincerity in the family. It was then he made the decision. Before Mr Robertson left, he turned to Grandmother and complimented her. "After taking a few mouthfuls from your dishes, I could truly taste the love for your family. Thank you so much for allowing me to eat such wholesome and delectable local dishes." Then, he turned and faced Mr Lee, "Mr Lee, I have made my decision and it should make you very happy." 40
